

cookie stars

Help girls learn (or recall) the cookie varieties with an introduction as inspiring as Oscar night!

GET READY

Ask volunteers to wear the cookie costumes and dance around the room or across the stage as the cookies are introduced. Alternatively, girl volunteers could excitedly display boxes of each of the cookies. You may want to invite girl volunteers to announce the cookies. If so, make sure to give them their parts of the script early so they can practice.

If time allows, choose a fun song to play as each cookie is introduced and highlighted. Some suggestions are given.

ANNOUNCER SCRIPT

We have some hot celebrities in town during Cookie Season! These stars are super popular and the crowds always go crazy. Ready to meet some cookie stars?

(music suggestion: Rock and Roll All Night)

This cookie can really roll! She's a rockin' young thing that appeals to those with a taste for adventure. You may recognize her flaky appearance and her tropical flair for stripes. Let's give a big round of applause for the one and only Samoas!

(music suggestion: Just the Way You Are)

Our next star is a shortbread classic. Although she's been around since 1917, she's still just as sweet and popular as when she first appeared. Not one for flashy appearances, she's one of our more sophisticated cookies and she has impeccable taste. Let's give it up for our very own Trefoils!

(music suggestion: Cotton-Eyed Joe)

Get your cowgirl boots on because our next cookie is ready to dance. With her crunchy oatmeal coating and smooth peanut butter filling, she loves to dip – right into a cold glass of milk. Let's hear it for our country dancing favorite, Do-Si-Dos!

(music suggestion: We Go Together – from the movie Grease)

In this cookie, two of our most popular tastes come together for a real blockbuster performance. Chocolate and peanut butter wow the crowds and melt in your mouths. And to keep them from completely melting away, shortbread turns this cookie into an unbeatable threesome of flavors and textures. Give it up for our own Tagalongs!

(music suggestions: You're Still the One)

And now for the real crowd pleaser, the number one Girl Scout Cookie in the country. Covered in dark chocolate, the crunchy chocolate cookie in the middle has that peppermint flavor people crave. She can usually be found in freezers across the land. Let's show Thin Mint just how thrilled we are to have her back.

There you have it... the most popular stars this season: Samoas, Trefoils, Do-Si-Dos, Tagalongs and Thin Mints. Your customers are waiting for them. Let's give them all one more hand!
